

Abstract of the Disclosure

A luck clamp apparatus is a kind of clamp. It includes a first clip, a second clip and a space between the first, second clips, and the stander by the wall to hold it staidly in the air. When the two clips join together, the stander will automatic close-up and the things you hang on the clamp apparatus will not full off. It just needs one handle to control all the steps to clip things to it.